Employment Certificate

Mr. Masri, born on April 2, 2000, worked with us from October 1, 2022, until September 9, 2023. Brainklets is a Lebanese-based company specializing in software development, digital transformations, IT services, and security solutions. During his tenure, Mr. Masri assisted in various projects such as schooltube.app, and med-evasan.com, showcasing his proficiency in frontend development. Additionally, he successfully developed two websites from the ground up. One of these projects is the Game Academy NGO website: gameacademy.ngo. The other was Timesquare: ultra.chatgpts.co; an e-commerce website encompassing multiple retail and service provider stores across Lebanon.

During his assignment, Mr. Masri worked on the following tasks in collaboration with our project manager:

- Brainstormed and prototyped new UI/UX ideas.
- Created exciting and sophisticated websites from conception to rollout, in close collaboration with our product and Figma designers.
- Developed software using ReactJS/NextJS as front-end technologies and PHP (Yii2), MySQL as back-end technologies.
- Discovered and evaluated agile approaches, technical concepts for frontends, security options, and REST interfaces.
- Integrated cutting-edge technologies like Next.js/TypeScript, Vite, React Redux, and React Toolkit Query to optimize our development process and enhance the performance of our applications.
- Implemented sophisticated animation and design concepts, as well as data-driven optimization.
- Continuously improved digital products used by thousands of international users every day. Ongoing development and re-evaluation of our front-end technology stack were essential.
- Worked on improving the usability (ensuring responsive design and browser compatibility of components), scalability (integrating SEO data), and technical maintenance (using React Testing Library).
- Adhered to our team's development practices and agile process (and influenced these through regular Sprint retrospectives).
- Collaborated cross-functionally with other teams to define, implement, and deploy new features.
- Reviewed colleagues' code and provided valuable feedback/documentation in their pull requests.
- Ensured thorough test coverage of the code in terms of robustness, usability, troubleshooting, error resolution, and overall reliability.
- Took responsibility end-to-end in software projects and had direct interaction with customers.
- Created pull requests using Git and GitHub and delivered high-quality code.

He consistently completed all assigned tasks reliably, independently, and to our complete satisfaction. In a very short time, Mr. Masri integrated well into our team, thanks to his friendly and open manner. He also quickly adapted to new situations and work requirements, proving to be very convincing. When working with colleagues, he was always cooperative, open, and extremely helpful. Despite the mental strain involved in his activities, he always carried out his tasks to completion. His behavior towards superiors and colleagues was impeccable at all times. We would like to thank him for his continued cooperation and wish him continued success, all the best for his further studies, and success in his professional and private future.
